

Essel Foundation Neuroscience Alumni Symposium

Saturday, April 14, 2007

12-4 pm Wege Auditorium, Thompson Chemistry Laboratories

Keynote 12:30 pm

Joshua C. Brumberg '92, PhD, Queens College, CUNY

"The Barrel Cortex: A Window into Cortical Development and Circuitry"

12 pm Luncheon, Science Court

12:30 pm "The Barrel Cortex: a window into cortical development and circuitry,"
Joshua C. Brumberg '92, PhD, Queens College, CUNY

1:10 pm "Seasonal cycles of sex and death,"
Brian Prendergast '93, PhD, University of Chicago

1:40 pm "From Freud to fMRI: the role of neuropsychology in advancing neuroimaging,"
Brenna McDonald '94, PsyD, MBA, Indiana University School of Medicine

2:05 pm "The search for neuropsychological phenotypes in developmental disorders,"
Lisa Blaskey '96, PhD, Children's Hospital of Philadelphia

2:30 pm Afternoon Break

2:45 pm "Rubin's Vase: seeing the big picture,"
Rebecca K. Lehman '00, MD, University of Rochester

3:10 pm "Neurogenesis and epilepsy,"
Michelle Kron '04, University of Michigan Medical School

3:35 pm "The formation of generalized place fields",
Margaret Carr '06, University of California San Francisco

4- 6 pm Reception, Stetson Faculty Lounge

In celebration of the 15th year of support of the Neuroscience Program at Williams College by the Essel Foundation, seven former Neuroscience concentrators will relate their post-graduate experiences in basic research in neuroscience and clinical practice in neurology and neuropsychology.

Lunch will be provided in Schow Atrium at noon, and the talks will begin at 12:30 pm. There will be a reception in Stetson Faculty Lounge following the Symposium. This symposium is free and open to the public.

Please RSVP for lunch by Monday, April 9th to Tracey.A.VanKempen@williams.edu

Sponsored by the Essel Foundation, Williams College Neuroscience Program, and Office of Career Counseling