

A montage of images of planetary nebulae made with the Hubble Space Telescope. These illustrate the various ways in which dying stars eject their outer layers as highly structured nebulae. Credits: Bruce Balick, Howard Bond, R. Sahai, their collaborators, and NASA.