Dear Dr. Bakija,

Do you have students looking for jobs or internships who are also passionate about economic freedom? The Charles Koch Institute strives to help students become more effective advocates for economic freedom through two fantastic professional education opportunities; the paid Koch Internship Program and the Koch Associate Program.

There are opportunities to work in a variety of areas including communications, policy, operations, donor relations, and more.

- Koch Internship Program: Students and recent grads get paid to work at free-market organizations in DC while engaging in weekly professional education every Tuesday. Both the spring and summer applications are now open and available online: <http://www.charleskochinstitute.org/internship-program/>
- Koch Associate Program: Participants work in a full-time job at a partner organization in DC, while engaging in professional education every Thursday. The program starts in June of 2013 and the application is now open and available online: <http://www.charleskochinstitute.org/associate-program/>

Please send any interested students or alumni my way; I'd be happy to speak with them about the programs and available roles.

Thanks,

David

P.S. Rodney Vessels has contacted you in the past, but I will be the point-of-contact moving forward.
