

Hi, academic NTA friends: I'm hoping some of you have great students who are graduating this spring but don't have jobs yet. I'm trying to hire FOUR research assistants to work for me at Pew, in the Government Performance area, which spans a very broad set of public policy areas. This is a great first real job for someone who wants to use their skills and take some time to learn about which public policy areas they are most interested in, maybe before they go onto graduate school. The job description below explains more about Pew, Pew's Government Performance division, and the type of work these research assistants would do. If any of your students are interested, please feel free to give them my email address and ask them to contact me in addition to applying through the website.
